AUTHOR NAOMI WOLF DISCUSSES HER NEW BOOK ON PERSONAL FREEDOM AND DEMOCRACY

Philadelphia, PA (September 29, 2008) – Two weeks before the 2008 election, Naomi Wolf, bestselling author of The Beauty Myth, will join the National Constitution Center to discuss her timely new book, Give Me Liberty: A Handbook for American Revolutionaries, on utilizing personal freedom and democracy. This program will take place on Monday, October 20, 2008, at 6:30 p.m. Admission is $9 for members, $15 for non-members, and $7 for teachers and students. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 215.409.6700.

In her previous book, The End of America, Wolf questioned the direction in which America was headed and proposed a return to the aspirations and beliefs of the Founding Fathers. Now, in Give Me Liberty, she provides a handbook outlining how people can actively incorporate these values into their lives. Wolf believes that, when ordinary citizens engage in the democratic system as the Founding Fathers intended, they can create change in their lives and communities, and ultimately help solve America's political problems.

Naomi Wolf is a prominent author, social critic, and political commentator. She is cofounder of both the Woodhull Institute for Ethical Leadership and The American Freedom Campaign. Her first book, The Beauty Myth, became an international bestseller. Wolf is also the author of Fire With Fire, Promiscuities, and The End of America: A Letter of Warning to a Young Patriot. In addition, she has written pieces for The New Republic, The Wall Street Journal, Glamour, The New York Times and The Huffington Post. A graduate of Yale and a former Rhodes Scholar, Wolf currently resides in New York City.

A book sale and signing will follow the program, courtesy of Joseph Fox Bookshop.
